

Candidate Name: Dan-neya Yancey

Grade: 10th

Extracurricular Activities, interests, skills:

I am currently participating in the Brooklyn's Youth Council every Monday after school. It helps me with my skill set such as public speaking, communication, and being comfortable with people. It is a group of teen adults like myself creating awareness and forming strong relationships by listening to kids in the BC and BP area school districts. We want to bring up after school participation, bring down juvenile delinquency, and make sure as students we feel safe in our surroundings. I am looking into participating in some after school clubs at BC revolving around career interests for my future. Some interests I have are journalism/writing, forensics, law, and also the medical field is an interest of mines. Some skills that I have is that I am quite the inquirer, I can ask a lot of questions, that's when you know I'm curious about that certain topic. I am a very observant person. Patience is something that I believe I have with people but when I see something wrong I tend to "bother" who ever I need to annoy in a sense to get whatever I need to get done, completed. However, I am very respectful in how I approach people and take things as they come.

What makes you a great leader and representative for your grade level?

To start off, I believe that I have so much more to learn about being a "leader" and being in a position where I am helping to form decisions around all of the 10th grade students of BCHS. I am very mature for my age and passionate about taking a stance on the things that I want to change in my environment and specifically in my school. I am dependable and charismatic. I care about what others think and I want people to understand that I am not going to push aside opinions that aren't compatible with mines. I reason with others and take constructive criticism well
